

SANT355

Master's Thesis in Anthropology of Development

Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of the course the student should be able to:

- Write an ethnographic text based on own research and analysed with the help of relevant theories applied from the course curriculum, the specific thematic chosen, and region of study.
- Work independently with complex empirical data and make choices of relevance.
- Produce a comparative, explorative and reasoned text based on own findings and features of the thematic field chosen.
- Manage proper devices of literature referencing, protecting informants and academic ethics.
- Contribute to a common pool of expert knowledge about own field of study.