

Egenvurdering på emne- og programnivå

Emnenivå: BA

Emne/program	LING116 (Semantikk)
År	2024
Emneansvarlig/ Programstyreleder (fagkoordinator)	Vadim Kimmelman (emneansvarlig)
Samlet vurdering av gjennomføringen av emnet/programmet	This course was taught by Vadim Kimmelman and Margaux Susman. 14 students took the exam and passed it. In general, the course followed the structure from the years before, and the structure and the content of the course are satisfactory. Some issues were related to the fact that a less experienced instructor was co-teaching this course, see below.
Emne: Er emnet student-evaluert? Hva kom i så fall fram der? Program: Funn i eventuelle programsensorrapporter sist år.	Yes, by the moment of filling out this form, 9 people have filled out the evaluation form. The answers to all the questions are inserted below, here I summarize the results. The students were mostly satisfied with the course, although some students were less satisfied. Both lectures and seminars received variable assessment. The literature was assessed as good. In the free comment field, several students commented on the fact that one of the teachers was not experienced, which affected the quality of the lectures specifically. While the students also expressed understanding of the situation, it is not ideal and should be addressed.
Var det noe som ikke fungerte godt nok? Er det behov for å foreta justeringer eller sette inn tiltak for å forbedre emnet/programmet? Hvilke?	In terms of the contents of the course, no changes are required. If a less experienced person is teaching the course, it is advisable to provide more guidance and observation. Another solution which I think should be applied more centrally is to provide pedagogical training to all PhD students, as since we expect them to teach, they should also get training in teaching.
