

RELV210/RELV310 Selected Themes in Religious Studies. Assisted Reading with Term Paper Report, spring term 2017

Praktisk gjennomføring

The teaching consists of supervision (in person or via e-mail) of a term paper on a theme selected by the individual student.

Strykprosent, frafall og karakterfordeling

Three students attended the course and the result was very good.

Kommentar til studentevaluering

There was no evaluation of the course this term.

Studieinformasjon og dokumentasjon

Information about the course has been available at Mitt UiB and was given to each of the students when we met for supervision.

Tilgang til relevant litteratur

None of the students had any problems in getting the literature they needed even if some of the books were not available at any library in Norway. The staff at the University Library has been very helpful.

Faglærers vurdering av rammevilkårene

Everything worked well.

Lokaler og undervisningsutstyr

Not relevant.

Internasjonalisering

The course is international in many respects. Only exchange students have access to the it, the themes they write about are international, and they write their papers in an international language. However, even if the choice is between English, French, German, Italian, and Spanish, most of the students write their paper in English (as all the three students this term did).

Faglærers samlede vurdering, inkl. forslag til forbedringstiltak

I have taught this course several times before, and the results are generally very good, probably because the students write about a theme they have chosen themselves and therefore have a great interest in.
